Dear Harold,

Just a quick note. The new quarter has begun, and it looks like even more work than before. Because of my high grades (3.66 last quarter) I'll be working on the law review now, which means more work yet. Enjoying it though. Constitutional law looks particularly interesting--taught by a Marxist.

In response to a strong letter to my publisher telling him that now is the time to bring out my book, I am told that the final proofs went to printer 4 weeks ago and they "expect" to have finished product in 2 to 3 weeks. Their "expectations" have been postponed before, so I'm not betting on it, but I hope soon, because of the revived interest.

Best to you and Lil,

Howard
